

AP Latin Summer Work 2018

Books needed:

- A Call to Conquest, David J. Perry
- The Aeneid, Vergil, trans. Robert Fitzgerald

In preparation for the continued study of Julius Caesar's Comentarii de Bello Gallico, read in English from the following pages of A Call to Conquest, answering the questions on the indicated pages. Your answers do not need to go into great depth, only show that you have done the reading, but you should keep in mind that I will be returning them to you and they will be a key resource as you review the material for the AP test:

- Book VI, pages 175-180
 - Answer the questions on:
 - Page 181
- Book VI, pages 198-207
 - Answer the questions on:
 - Page 200
 - Page 207
- Book VII, pages 209-248
 - Answer the questions on:
 - Page 215
 - Page 222
 - Pages 231-232
 - Pages 237-238
 - Page 248

We will be reading the middle section of Book VI in Latin; it covers several customs and institutions of the Gauls.

In addition to these English readings, please also translate in Book 5 chapters 34, 35, 36, 37, and 38, from pages 135-145.

In preparation for the study of Vergil's Aeneid, read the Fitzgerald translation in English. Be prepared to take a multiple choice reading quiz on the text in the first two weeks of school.

You may email me at laura.hamilton@reg5.k12.ct.us over the summer if you have any problems with or questions about the work, though I may only respond intermittently.

If you do the work on Google Docs, please share it with laura.hamilton@amityschools.org.

Also, if you are by chance looking for something to listen to on any long trips over the summer, or just because you're bored, I highly recommend Mike Duncan's The History of Rome podcast. I want to stress this is NOT an assignment, just a recommendation, but it's good background information.

Also if you're super bored you can read English translations of Homer's Iliad and Odyssey; a good site to find them is A. S. Kline's Poetry in Translation. Again, these are NOT required, but I'm going to be referencing them throughout our study of the Aeneid.

Bonam aetatem habeas!
